AIDIPE 2015 - Research with and for society will be the 17th International Conference of Educational Research to be led by the Inter-University Association of Educational Research and it will take place in the University of Cadiz, Spain, on the 24th to 26th of June 2015.

The Interuniversity Association of Research in Pedagogy -AIDIPE- (<http://www.aidipe.org/>) came about at the end of the seventies. Its objective was to encourage and stimulate the quality of educational research via training, collaboration, the exchange of experiences and the diffusion of knowledge and relevant research results. It continues to show a real social commitment, a connection with the field and an international vocation.

AIDIPE 2015 is mainly focused on the advances and results of educational research which is concerned with the subject of the conference: Research with and for society. However, in addition to that particular line of research, it is also addressing the possibility of sharing experiences in education. This means that there will be contributions about proposals or innovative practices. They will be made by professionals and teachers in the various sectors, levels of education and branches of knowledge and they will be related to their professional activity.

In this respect, the conference is organised into two sections: research and professional and educational experiences.

● SECTIONS OF THE CONFERENCE

B. EXPERIENCES
